

Poster Session

Medical Resources in Librarianship and Information Science Studies about the Promotion Health

Mauer-Gorska, B

Mauer-Gorska, Barbara: Jagiellonian University Krakow, The Librarianship and Information Science Institute, ul.Golebia 18, Krakow 31-007, Poland, mauer@bilon.miks.uj.edu.pl

In the poster is presented the curriculum of librarianship studies at the Jagiellonian University which includes knowledge about the Polish medical bibliographies and current resources on the www. In the poster there are presented themes of practical tasks worked out by the students. The aim of the studies programme is teaching skill of choice the traditional medical information sources, and electronic publications to building the virtual library on about health promotion. There are also presented some examples of the sides of the "Health Promotion" which are divided into eight parts, e.g. general information about the health promotion, and the international, national, governmental, social programmes (Healthy Town, Healthy School), bibliographic bases on about promotion health, information services for patients, and for healthy people how to take care for health. That information on the web page the "Health Promotion" is directed to common people. The resources on the health promotion present that topic on about many countries all the world.