

The integration between the library service of Experimental Zooprohylactic Institute of Umbria and Marche and the Library of Veterinary Medicine of Perugia's University

Parisi, A; Fruttini, L

Parisi, Ada: Facoltà di Medicina Veterinaria - Università degli Studi di Perugia, Biblioteca, Via G. Salvemini, Perugia 06126, Italy, ada@unipg.it

The activity beginning of the librarian "One Pool" between Zooprohylactic Experimental Institute of Umbria and Marche and the library of the Faculty of Veterinary of Perugia university, became an organisational model directed to rationalize librarian resources between authorities that work in the same territorial and scientific sector. The "One Pool" produced an important improvement of services for inside and outside users.

Rationalization centred on:

- Sharing electronic bibliographic resources (data bank) and traditional (monographs and magazines).
- Web pages about developed activity;
- Using of a common system to catalogueing bibliographic heritage;
- Access on the catalogue trough on-line systems (OPAC, Directory);
- Projects of training and information for users;
- Startig of research programmes in the sector of librarianship and access through electronic systems to bibliographic resources.

Trough this activity Vet- Libraries improved very fast and produced an integration of services with a substantial improvement of access possibilities for inside and outside users.